DCWC Office Fitout

arete Australia was engaged to transform a 705m² warm shell space into a modern, functional office environment for DCWC in Melbourne's CBD. The fitout incorporated a welcoming reception area, co-lab space, kitchen and pantry, print room and pods, storage facilities, a breakout area, new boardroom, and multiple offices.

Working in close collaboration with consultants, arete managed the installation and commissioning of all electrical, mechanical, hydraulic, and security services. The new office configuration also includes meeting rooms and open-plan work areas housing 84 workstations designed to enhance productivity and collaboration.

Delivered on time and within budget, the completed space aligned with DCWC's business goals and was met with positive feedback from the client. The project exemplifies arete commitment to high-quality craftsmanship, careful coordination, and creating inspiring work environments.
